

We are one.

Let's remember that.

About Unity Week NZ

Unity Week NZ is an annual event to reconnect communities in the way we were after the 15 March terror attack.

We are one.

It's important that unity we showed after the attack does not fade away – we must ensure we've learned the lessons 15 March taught us.

Unity Week NZ was established by the Sakinah Community Trust, a not-for-profit led by seven women who lost loved ones in the tragic attacks, supported by various dedicated community groups.
